

Charles

I currently serve at Lower Brule Schools, where my role spans school administration, classroom teaching, and athletics, working closely with staff across both the middle and high school to support academic achievement, operational compliance, and student development within the Lower Brule Sioux community. My interest in this degree stems from a desire to strengthen my capacity as a school leader — to make data-informed decisions, better serve students with diverse learning needs, and build systems (from testing schedules to staff policy) that support both students and the educators who work with them.
